Community-Engaged Student Travel Grant, Spring 2019
Overview and Expectations

The Community-Engaged Student Travel Grant provides support to students participating in community-engagement projects and/or community-based research domestically or internationally. The goal of the program is to make engaged learning financially accessible for students across the university and to help ensure that engaged-learning participants more fully represent the diversity of Cornell. The grant program promotes high-quality engaged learning by facilitating pre-, during- and post-trip activities centered around critical reflection.

Activities and Expectations
Undergraduate Engaged Ambassadors and Office of Engagement Initiatives staff facilitate all grant support activities, which include:

Pre-engagement Workshop
Participants begin to examine their identities, biases and assumptions prior to departure, learn the “What? So What? Now What?” critical reflection framework and begin to build a shared community with other grantees.

- Workshop March 7, 2019, 4:30-6 p.m., 102 Mann

During-engagement Reflective Prompts
Participants and Engaged Ambassadors continue their critically reflective dialogue during the community-engaged experience.

- Reflection due April 3, 2019

Post-engagement Report to Community
Participants summarize experience, reflect with other grantees and disseminate knowledge stemming from their engaged experiences to students, staff and faculty.

- Final report due April 12, 2019
- Post-Engagement Debrief April 19, 2019
- Community Engagement Showcase 2019-2020 Academic Year
